FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

Our celebration of Independence Day on July 4 each year is one that is uniquely ours. Commemorating the birth of our nation, we pause to celebrate with fireworks, speeches, parades, music and lots of food. In some places, the Declaration of Independence is proclaimed – a reminder of the very document that pronounced our nation's liberty.

The most quoted words of that document, of course, are these: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness." As many cherish these freedoms, we also know that others still seek them in their fullness. As our Catholic Bishops have reminded us over and over again, as long as injustice, racism and hatreds exist, the rights expounded in the Declaration of Independence will remain to come to full fruition.

As Catholics, the tenets of our faith have much to offer so that the fruits of these "unalienable Rights" might prosper all of our citizens. You can get some ideas by going to this web site: <http://www.usccb.org/issues-and-action/religious-liberty>.

As we prepare to celebrate the 4th of July, let's pray that our nation will help all nations and peoples to know the true Freedom that comes from being a child of God and a disciple of Jesus Christ.

Love, Father Tom

Father Augustus Tolton: Recognized for Heroic Virtues

Earlier this year, our parish hosted the one-man play Tolton: From Slave to Priest. So many people expressed what a beautiful story it is and how needed it is for our times.

On June 12, Pope Francis recognized that Father Augustus Tolton, who died July 9, 1897 in Quincy, Illinois, lived the Gospel virtues in a heroic manner and is called "Venerable." While public devotion to him in the liturgy is not permitted, private prayers asking for his intercession are permitted. The official prayer can be found at <https://tolton.archchicago.org/prayer>.

Basic Catholic Marriage Laws

More and more, we are encountering married couples who do not realize that their marriage is not recognized by the Church, therefore, they are not permitted to receive Holy Communion and the other sacraments. Here are the more important canonical laws regarding couples and the Sacrament of Marriage.

- Marriage is between one man and one woman. Marriage ends with the death of one of the spouses.

- At the time of the wedding each person must be "free to marry," that is, neither party has been previously married in any way. (If there is a previous marriage, an annulment will be necessary for each prior marriage.) As well, both parties must freely choose to wed. They cannot be forced to marry against their own will or be fearful about being married.

- The Church requires specific preparation for marriage for Catholics and this must be completed prior to the wedding. (Requirements will differ from diocese to diocese; normally, the norms of the diocese where the couple resides will be the ones that must be followed.)

- If one party is Catholic the wedding ceremony must take place in a Catholic Church according to the ritual of the Catholic Church with a priest or deacon serving as the one who will receive the vows of the couple. (Any exceptions to this will require a dispensation or permission from the Chancery. Please see your parish priest/deacon for any questions.)

- As for all the sacraments, the Church holds that those who request a sacrament must do so in faith. This generally presumes regular attendance at Mass on Sundays and Holy Days of Obligation, regular reception of the Sacraments of Holy Communion and Penance, and regular support of the Church.

[FYI: If neither the man nor woman is a Catholic and married according to the civil laws where they reside, the Catholic Church will recognize this marriage providing there were no impediments such as a prior marriage.]

These are the basics. There are other issues that will need to be discussed when the couple meets with their parish priest or deacon the first time. [Remember, in the Diocese of St. Augustine, a preparation period of eight months is required prior to the wedding.]

❖ A Great Storm Arose Mt 8:23-27 (Gospel reading for July 2)

In the evening, after a day of intense work, Jesus got into a boat and told the apostles to go the other side. Exhausted, he fell asleep in the stern. Meanwhile, a great storm arose which threatened to destroy the boat.

Frightened, the apostles woke Jesus, saying to him: "Teacher, do you not care if we perish?" After rising, Jesus ordered the sea to be calm: "Peace! Be still!" The wind ceased and there was a great calm. Then he said to them: "Why are you afraid? Have you no faith?"

The crossing of the Sea of Galilee indicates the voyage of life. The sea is my family, my community, my heart itself. In small seas, as we know, great and unforeseen storms can be unleashed.

Who has not known some of these storms, when all is darkened and the little boat of our life begins to fill with water on all sides, while God seems to be absent or asleep. An alarming diagnosis from the doctor, and all of a sudden we are at the height of the storm.

What to do? What can we hold fast to and on what side must we lower the anchor? Jesus does not give us the magic recipe to escape all storms. He has not promised us that we will avoid all difficulties. He has promised us, however, the strength to surmount them if we ask him for it.

St. Paul tells us about a serious problem he had to face in his life, which he calls "a thorn in my flesh." "Three times" -- that is, countless times -- he says he prayed to the Lord to free him from it, and what did the Lord answer him?

Let us read it together: "My grace is sufficient for you, for my power is made perfect in weakness."

From that day, he tells us, he even began to glory in his weaknesses, persecutions and anxieties, to the point of being able to say: "When I am weak, then I am strong" (2 Corinthians 12:7-10).

Trust in God: This is the message of the Gospel. On that day, what saved the disciples from shipwreck was the fact of taking Jesus in the boat, before beginning the crossing.

This is also for us the best guarantee against the storms of life: to take Jesus with us. The means to take Jesus in the boat of one's life and of one's family is faith, prayer and observance of the commandments.

When a storm is unleashed in the sea, at least in the past, seamen used to pour oil on the waves to calm them. On the waves of fear and anxiety we must pour trust in God.

St. Peter exhorted the early Christians to trust in God in persecutions, saying: "Cast all your anxieties on him, for he cares about you" (1 Peter 5:7). The lack of faith of the disciples that Jesus reproached on that occasion was due to the fact that they doubted that he was "concerned" about their lives and safety: "Do you not care if we perish?"

God takes care of us, he is concerned about our lives! A frequently cited anecdote speaks of a man who had a dream. He saw two pairs of footprints that had been imprinted in the desert sand and understood that one pair of footprints was his and the other pair was that of Jesus, who was walking by his side. At a certain moment, one pair of footprints disappeared, and he understood that this happened exactly at a difficult moment of his life.

Then he complained to Christ, who left him alone in the moment of trial. "But, I was with you!" replied Jesus.

"How is it possible that you were with me, when there was only one pair of footprints in the sand?" the man said.

"They were mine," replied Jesus. "In those moments, I carried you on my shoulders."

Let us remember this when we feel the temptation to complain to the Lord that he leaves us alone.
